Sophisticated AI-generated TikTok accounts, posing as Jewish rabbis, are systematically producing and distributing antisemitic content framed as “insider Jewish financial wisdom.”

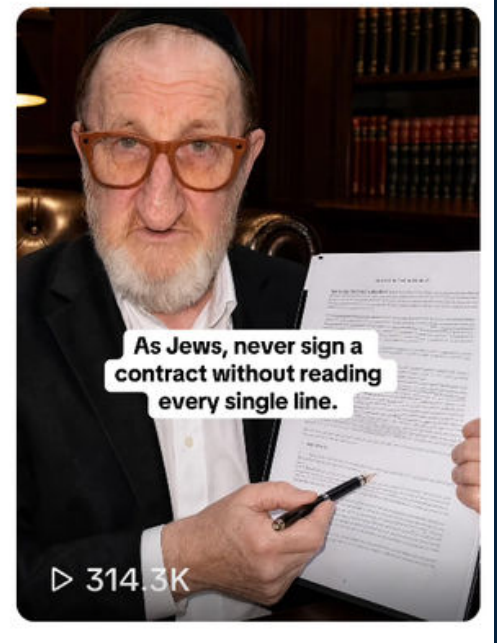

The following report compiled by the Antisemitism Research Center (ARC) by CAM exposes 49 TikTok accounts featuring such “rabbis” and engaging in coordinated campaigns. Together, these accounts have amassed a following of more than 950,000 users and generated over 10,000,000 likes.

An in-depth content analysis of four of these accounts - @rabbirothstein @rabingoldmaan @rabbistirberg, and @rabbi_silverstein - reveals common narrative arcs and shared linguistic patterns recasting longstanding antisemitic tropes as self-admitted truths from authoritative Jewish religious figures.

The danger is clear. By masquerading as authentic Jewish voices, these “rabbis” erode trust, normalize hatred, and incite real-world violence targeting Jews. By amplifying this content to young, impressionable audiences, TikTok is complicit in accelerating radicalization in an era when AI is making disinformation increasingly difficult to detect.

See here the list of the 49 TikTok accounts monitored in this report.

The ARC similarly recently uncovered a network of more than 70 AI-generated “rabbis” spreading antisemitic tropes on Instagram. In collaboration with Meta, Instagram’s parent company, CAM has taken action to stop the proliferation of these accounts. CAM urges TikTok to show the same level of responsiveness.

The report is based on the direct examination of 24 specific videos from the four accounts specified above (a comprehensive database of source links is provided on the report's final page). The consistency across accounts, including identical narrative framing, language use, and thematic focuses, suggests an organized effort to launder antisemitic ideas into mainstream discourse, as opposed to organic or coincidental content creation.

Dangerous impacts of the content in question include:

- False Legitimization of Conspiracy Theories: When a figure presented as a rabbi “confesses” to Jewish control of industries or financial “loopholes,” viewers perceive it as insider validation. This bypasses normal skepticism applied to outsider accusations, making antisemitic tropes appear factual and self-evident.
- Reinforcement of Classic Antisemitic Stereotypes: The videos revive medieval blood libels in modern packaging, presenting Jews as greedy manipulators who “cheat the system,” control global affairs, and operate as a closed cabal. This directly fuels envy, resentment, and scapegoating.
- Radicalization of Young Audiences: TikTok’s primary demographic is teenagers and young adults. Algorithmic amplification ensures these videos reach users already consuming conspiracy-laden “self-improvement” content. Exposure thus normalizes such antisemitism as “hidden truths,” lowering the threshold for more extreme beliefs and potential real-world acts.
- Erosion of Trust and Inter-Community Relations: By impersonating Jewish religious figures, the content undermines genuine Jewish voices and rabbis. It also creates plausible deniability for consumers (“It’s not antisemitic—it’s Jews admitting it themselves”), making it harder for Jewish communities to push back.
- Real-World Consequences: Antisemitic tropes have historically instigated violence—from pogroms to the Holocaust to contemporary attacks on Jews. In the digital age, this content contributes to a documented global rise in antisemitic incidents by providing “evidence” that justifies hostility. The visual caricatures (large noses, ostentatious wealth) further dehumanize Jews, erasing a psychological barrier to violence.
- Platform and Societal Vulnerability: AI-generated content is cheap, scalable, and difficult for moderators to distinguish from that produced by real humans. TikTok’s short-form format and recommendation engine create optimal conditions for viral spread before fact-checkers or platforms can respond.

Conclusion and Recommendations

The AI-generated “rabbi” accounts on TikTok represent a grim evolution in online antisemitism, with increased sophistication, scalability, and deception. What appears as helpful financial advice is, upon inspection, a systematic effort to sow antisemitic hatred.

Immediate steps by TikTok should include:

- Platform-level investment in AI detection tools specifically trained to identify synthetic religious impersonation..
- Platform guidelines ensuring that traffic is not actively directed to such accounts.
- Launch a public awareness campaign highlighting how to spot AI-generated propaganda.
